Summer Teaching Positions in Chinese and English as a Second Language
Program Dates: June 9-August 5, 2016

The Center for Language Studies at Beloit College offers four and eight week sessions of immersive language study in Arabic, Chinese, English as a Second Language (ESL), Japanese, and Russian. Our distinctive approach includes personalized teaching and mentoring, engagement in cultural activities, and interactions with students over meals and in the residence halls. Students live the language as they learn it. The faculty to student ratio is 1:6.

The Center for Language Studies seeks senior instructors and instructors to teach 1st year Chinese, 4th year Chinese, and advanced English as a Second Language (ESL) on the Beloit College campus in Beloit, Wisconsin. Each language class typically has one senior instructor and one instructor. Instructors collaborate with each other, the language coordinator, and the CLS director on curriculum, syllabi, and instruction. The successful candidate will teach 12-15 academic hours of instruction each week for 8 weeks and will contribute to cultural programming. Duties include classroom teaching and evaluation and assistance with organizing cultural activities for the program. Instructors will be expected to live on campus (single occupancy), share lunch and dinner with the students in the dining commons, and be available to students evenings and weekends for office hours. More information about the Center for Language Studies is available at https://www.beloit.edu/cls/.

Minimum qualifications:
- Master’s degree or higher in the language taught, philology, linguistics, foreign language education, or a closely related field;
- Native or near-native proficiency in the language taught;
- At least one year’s experience teaching at the university level to non-native speakers (required for senior instructor applicants).

Desired qualifications
- Experience teaching intensive language programs;
- Experience teaching independently;
- High English proficiency;
- Experience in team-teaching environments;
- Experience in proficiency-based instruction.

To apply, send the following documents to cls@beloit.edu by December 21, 2015:
1. A letter explaining your interest in and your qualifications for teaching an intensive summer language program at Beloit College
2. A CV
3. Contact information for two references, one of whom should be able to comment on your teaching.
