REACHING OUT TO THE WORLD:
CARROLL UNIVERSITY’S NEW CULTURAL EXPERIENCE PROGRAM (NCEP)

History of the NCEP Program

After several years of independent programming in the 1960s at the academic departmental level, Carroll University in the late 1970s implemented a campus-wide program of short-term, off-campus, cross-cultural courses designed for interdisciplinary student groups. During the first three decades of the program, over 200 courses were taught by Carroll faculty, exposing participants to over three dozen different countries as well as 16 different states. A currently proposed cross-cultural requirement for all undergraduate students will likely increase the program’s prominence in the decade to come.
